

Crane lifts pair from canyon

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News writer

HANSEN — Two young men stranded on a rock ledge deep in the Snake River Canyon for almost 12 hours were pulled out late Tuesday.

A cable lowered from a crane on the canyon rim east of the Hansen Bridge pulled Marion Hinton, 18, Kimberly, and Vernon Davis, 22, who lives nearby, to safety about 10:30 p.m.

Their adventure began when they entered the canyon about 7:45 a.m. Tuesday on a hunting trip.

Cold and tired, the pair were taken to the Davis home in an ambulance driven by Cloyce Edwards, Twin Falls County coroner. Davis was able to walk, despite a twisted ankle sustained in a fall in the canyon.

Davis and Hinton climbed into the canyon near the bridge to hunt along the river, which is more than 400 feet below the rim in that area, about 10 miles east of Twin Falls. Hinton said walking near the bottom of the canyon was fairly easy.

When they started to leave the canyon on the Jerome County side about a quarter of a mile east of the bridge, they found rain had made the rocks slick. They decided to return to the bottom of the canyon from a ledge they had reached.

As they started down, Davis slipped and fell, twisting his ankle. He was apparently unable to continue the descent.

Hinton said it was raining, making walking out too dangerous. Hinton then took Davis on his back and climbed back onto the rock ledge above them. That was 10:45 a.m. From there, they could see the bridge and the viewpoint on the south side of the rim, west of the bridge.

To attract attention, they built a large bonfire, waved, and shouted for help.

A couple on the viewpoint — identified today by Twin Falls County sheriff's officers as Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Weber, Broadview, Ill. — spotted the pair, using binoculars, after hearing their shouts for help. They called the sheriff's office about 5 p.m. to report seeing and hearing the pair. The reason for the delay was not explained.

Sheriff Paul Corder and several deputies arrived shortly after that. Finding the canyon wall too slick to send a rescue party down and darkness nearing, a crane from Northwest Crane and Rigging, Twin Falls, was sent to the scene. The sheriff and other officers used flashlights to guide the crane into position above the men.

When the crane was in place, the boom was extended far enough over the canyon wall to clear the rocks. Operator Keith Sligar lowered about 300 feet of cable into the canyon.

Hinton and Davis had been instructed by Corder to place their feet in loops at the end of the cable. Once they were in place, facing each other, they were drawn up on the cable by the crane.

Hinton told Corder after they were rescued they tried climbing the canyon wall because it seemed to be a shorter way out though there was a good trail along the bottom.

But after the rescue effort ended, the ordeal was over for Davis and Hinton, but not for the rescuers. They had to guide the big crane back to the highway with flashlights.

Indicators show US economy gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's index of leading business indicators jumped 2.2 per cent last month, biggest rise in the closely watched economic report since last spring, the Commerce Department said today.

The August rise in the composite index of leading economic indicators was the biggest gain since March. It compared with an average monthly increase of 1.3 per cent since the index began moving up about two years ago.

The index samples movement in 12 diverse areas of the economy and is considered a key guide to later business trends. The August figures "are continuing to signal strong growth for the economy in the future," Assistant Commerce Secretary Harold C. Passer said.

Of the eight indicators available for today's report, only contracts and orders for plant and equipment was down. Those increasing were the length of the average work week, new orders for durable goods, building permits, industrial materials prices, stock prices and the price-labor cost ratio.

Initial claims for unemployment insurance declined in August but that was considered a favorable sign for the business index. The index leveled off in June and July but Passer said the magnitude of the August gain showed that the overall trend was still strongly upward.

"On a quarterly basis, the second quarter gain of 4.2 per cent was the largest since the first quarter of 1971, when the economy was rebounding from the auto strike," Passer said.

Senate gets double bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate takes up a 980-page bill today which ties together politically attractive liberalizations of the Social Security and Medicare programs with the divisive issue of welfare reform.

The prospects were that after considerable debate the Senate would find a way to pass the Social Security and Medicare changes and to leave behind welfare for another year.

The bill reaches the Senate three years after President Nixon first proposed guaranteeing an income to all poor families—those who work as well as those on welfare.

It passed the House 15 months ago but was bottled up until last week by conservatives on the Senate Finance Committee who oppose a government-guaranteed income for anyone.

What emerged was an entirely different plan. It would strike from the welfare rolls 40 per cent of the 3 million families receiving welfare and offer the adults a subsidized, low-paying job in place of a welfare check. The jobs would pay as little as $40 a week and administration officials called the plan "a return to the leaf-raking schemes of the 1930s."

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., leading a band of liberals, hoped to win approval of his own alternative, a more generous version of the President's plan.

Much depended upon whether he could win administration support.

Ribicoff was said to be working with his coalition to draft a new version of his plan, hoping to lower its cost to the government and broaden its appeal to win over White House backing and a Senate majority.

Nixon's bill would guarantee a family of four $2,400 a year. Ribicoff's measure would have raised that to $3,000. Now he was understood to be considering coming to $2,600.

Talks continue

PARIS (UPI) — Presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger met North Vietnamese peace negotiators for the second straight day today. Kissinger extended his bargaining meetings with Hanoi's Politburo member Le Duc Tho and chief negotiator Xuan Thuy following press reports the central issue was the Vietnamese Communist campaign for the creation of a three-segment government of "national concord" in Saigon.

It was the first time the private talks had lasted more than a day.

Senate votes down anti-war measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While Sen. George S. McGovern campaigned in California for a quick end to the Indochina war, the Senate Tuesday narrowly scrapped a plan to do just that.

The proposal, twice approved by the Senate earlier this year, would have cut off all funds for the Indochina conflict within four months if American prisoners of war were released and an accounting made of servicemen still missing.

But in a major victory for President Nixon, the proposal lost on a 45-42 vote. Republican loyalists then pushed through by 46-41 the bill to which it had been attached—a $1.02 billion foreign military aid authorization bill nearly identical to one killed by the Senate two months ago.

McGovern, a leader of the Senate antiwar bloc, was campaigning in San Francisco with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Freed pilots in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Three American war prisoners released by North Vietnam more than a week ago arrived today in Moscow and said they were willing to meet privately with U.S. diplomats—the first ones available since their release.

The three pilots flew in from Peking aboard a Soviet Aeroflot plane. They were in high spirits and apparently in good health.

CAA chief blasts poverty war aides

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The board chairman of the embattled South Central Community Action Agency today accused federal anti-poverty officials of "not practicing what they preach."

Royal Slotten said regional Office of Economic Opportunity directors in Seattle had administered a "slap in the face of Magic Valley low income citizens, business and civic leaders and public officials trying to participate in developing the revised work program," in refusing an agency request for a 30-day extension of revisions of a work plan.

In Seattle, Harold Whitehead, Idaho State team operations chief for region X, dismissed the charges, saying the regional office had "been more than fair with that agency."

At issue is a Sept. 30 deadline facing the local agency to submit a revised work plan to the federal officials. The work plan is the master overview setting forth goals and objectives, as well as tactics, for the current fiscal year.

Whitehead today cited several reasons for the denial of the extension, including:

— The agency, like others, had been told five months before the beginning of the current fiscal year to begin drawing up a work plan.

— The agency had been granted a 15-day extension in submitting the plan to regional officials earlier this year; — The agency had been granted an additional three-month extension to Sept. 30 to prepare revisions which were to incorporate the "more quantifiable goals" which federal officials felt were lacking.

For those reasons, Whitehead said, "we've been more than fair with that agency. I don't consider it a slap in the face to poor people. I totally disagree with the statement."

But Slotten, in a prepared two-page statement said, "I feel that OEO regional officials are not practicing what they preach — citizen participation — which is necessary to make community action programs work."

The regional OEO officials' action denies the SCAA board an opportunity to become more familiar with the idea of citizen participation and forces the local volunteer board to accept what the local SCAA director and staff develop under regional OEO interpreted congressional guidelines.

Slotten and Russell both have said repeatedly in recent weeks that the volunteer board, composed of representatives of various sectors of the public, had not been sufficiently informed about the workings of the agency.

Slotten also cited two other reasons for the request for an additional 30-day extension: (Continued on P. 13)

Rockets hit DaNang base

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist gunners shelled the big Allied air base at Da Nang at dusk tonight for the second time in less than a week, but the seven heavy rockets fell harmlessly into an open field, a U.S. command spokesman said.

The Soviet-built 122mm rockets hit near a taxi runway at 6:45 p.m., the spokesman said. There were no casualties or damage to the base 370 miles north of Saigon.

Several hundred American servicemen are stationed at the Da Nang base, 370 miles north of Saigon. U.S. F4 jet fighter bombers stationed in Thailand use the base to refuel and load new weapons for strikes against the North Vietnamese panhandle region and Communist troops in northern South Vietnam.

Intelligence sources have been predicting terrorist and rocket attacks against Saigon and other American bases in South Vietnam during the weeks before the U.S. presidential election.

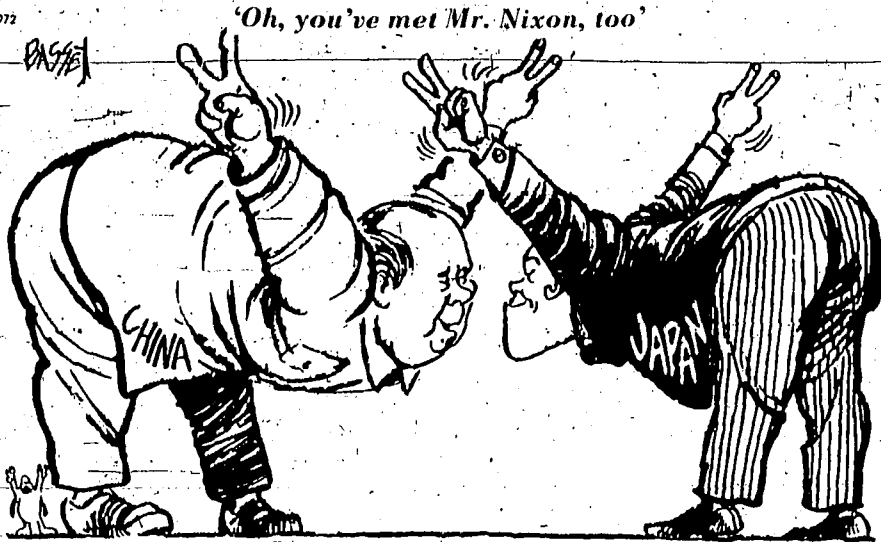

Earlier, the U.S. command in Saigon reported American warplanes knocked out two MIG21 jet fighters on the ground in raids by hundreds of planes on a North Vietnamese air base between Hanoi and the China border, and attacked army installations near the country's two biggest cities.

North Vietnam reported today heavy air attacks and ship bombardments by Allied forces resulting in "several hundred" civilian casualties, the Vietnam News Agency (VNA) said in a broadcast from Hanoi.

In a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, VNA said U.S. aircraft attacked heavily populated areas ranging the entire length of the country.

"Civilian casualties totaled several hundred and many houses and economic and cultural establishments, including the Song Boi school...the primary school in Hung Phuc village...the Tra Thuong Suic and a dike in Zuan Kien village," were destroyed or damaged," the broadcast said.

On the same day, according to the broadcast, B52 bombers "carpet-bombed a number of places in Quang Binh Province, and U.S. warships bombarded many coastal hamlets and villages of Thanh Hoa and Nghe An."

Bombers sent to Indochina

NEILIS-APB, Nev. (UPI)—The controversial F111 fighter-bombers are being sent to join the war in Indochina for the first time in four years.

The Pentagon announced the movement Tuesday, and an Air Force spokesman at this Nevada base, where the 48 planes were stationed, said they would take off "shortly" for Takhli Royal Air Base in Thailand.

The Air Force has grounded all F111s seven times in the past four years, after 22 crashes, at least six from undetermined causes. Six of the planes were sent to Southeast Asia in March, 1968, when the F111 was still in the experimental stage. Three of them crashed, two from unknown causes, and the remaining three were withdrawn.

After collision

VEHICLES INVOLVED in car-school bus collision in South Park Tuesday afternoon ended up like this. The auto hit a utility pole at the intersection of Lois and Diamond, and the bus veered across a yard, hitting the side of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Maddocks. Two persons in the car were hurt.

Car, bus collide; 3 hurt

TWIN FALLS — A school bus carrying 15 children collided with a car Tuesday afternoon, continued through a fence and yard and struck a house nearby. Only one of the children on the bus was believed to have been injured. Police said Julie Anderson may have been struck by some flying glass, but she was not admitted to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The bus carrying the children was owned by Immanuel Lutheran School.

The driver of the car, Jess R. Garrett, 24, Twin Falls, was admitted to the hospital. He is listed in good condition today. A passenger in his car, Leland Dunnigan, 15, was treated and released.

The school bus driver, David Woodhead, 19, Twin Falls, received a laceration over his right eye.

Officers said the collision occurred at 4:05 p.m. at Lois Street and Diamond Avenue.

The small foreign car driven by Garrett was traveling north on Lois and the school bus was east-bound on Diamond when they collided in the intersection.

The car spun around in the roadway and struck a utility pole, doing about $1,200 damage to the car.

After impact, the bus traveled 164 feet from the intersection and went between a tree and the house at 321 Diamond Avenue.

The bus grazed the tree and bumped the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Maddocks. The interior kitchen wall of the house was shattered, the kitchen range knocked to the floor, and other furnishings in the room scattered about.

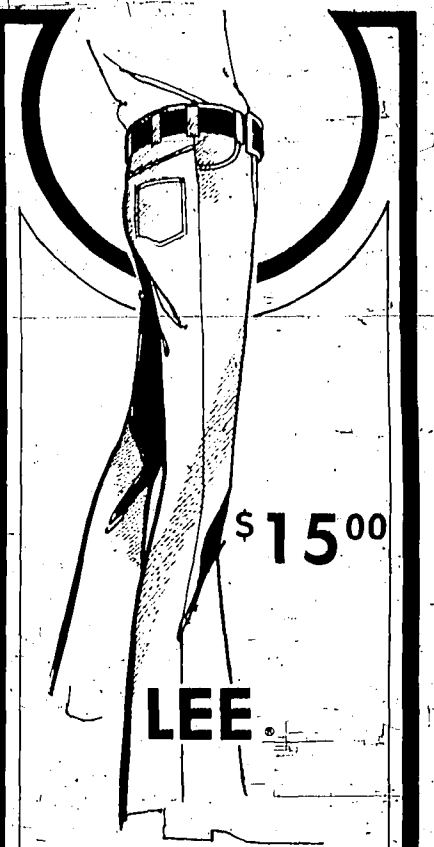

There was no one in the house when the accident occurred.

Police have charged Woodhead with failure to yield the right of way.

Hijack called 'false alarm'

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The Singapore government said an Olympic Airways pilot touched off a false alarm today when he "pushed the wrong button" and triggered an emergency signal that indicated his plane was being hijacked soon after it left Sydney with 42 persons aboard.

"The whole thing is a false alarm," the spokesman said, adding that initial reports indicated "the pilot pushed the wrong button."

"Newsman were prevented from approaching the aircraft at Singapore International Airport when it landed at 7:02 a.m. EDT and taxied to a stop about 100 yards from the main terminal building. Security officials kept newsmen from approaching the disembarking passengers and prevented interviews.

First reports of a hijacking came at 12:12 a.m. EDT when Royal Australian Air Force (RAAF) communications personnel at Williamtown, in New South Wales, picked up a brief radio message on an emergency frequency. An RAAF spokesman said apparently the pilot of the aircraft had triggered the secret alarm signal when his aircraft was about 30 minutes out of Sydney. The Singapore spokesman confirmed as much but added the false alarm twist.

In Canberra early in the mixup, civil aviation authorities said they were treating the incident as a hijack—Australia's first.

The Australian sales manager for Olympic, Russell Lipina, said shortly after the initial report came in "we will meet any demands of the hijacker."

The safety of the passengers and crew is the first consideration. The plane carried 31 passengers and a crew of 11.

Earlier today, police at Athens Airport—ultimate destination of the Olympic plane—took special security measures and armed police were placed at key positions in both the domestic and international terminals. Later, three Arab airliners made emergency landings in Athens because of bomb threats. A police source said it was not known whether the security measures were prompted by news of the Olympic hijacking or because police had information about an Arab commando operation in Athens.

Filipino chief cracks down on casinos, crime

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippine government announced tonight the closure of all casinos and the enforcement of a broad antiracket code under prevailing martial law.

The number of persons detained under the proclamation of a national emergency by President Ferdinand E. Marcos rose to more than 100 today in Greater Manila with the announced arrest of 15 more persons, including four mayors and a newspaper editor.

US rights panel wins extension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill extending the life of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission for five years and giving it authority to protect the rights of women has been passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

The Senate approved the bill Tuesday with little debate. Earlier a House-Senate conference committee dropped a Senate-approved section creating a "bill of rights" for government employees.

The section, among other things, outlawed psychological testing of government employees and forbade lie detector questioning about their religious beliefs or sex lives.

Atom test shot fired

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission Tuesday set off its sixth underground nuclear test this year, code named "Delphinium."

The blast had a yield of less than 20 kilotons, and there were no mishaps, the AEC said. The nuclear explosion was detonated 550 feet underground at a remote desert test area.

It was the 247th publicly revealed American underground nuclear test since the United States and Russia agreed in 1963 to limit explosions in the atmosphere.

privileges for the few and powerful—a frequent point of complaint among Filipinos—the government withdrew the assignment of 750 military officers and men as bodyguards of politicians.

Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad told a news conference the list of offenses covered under the presidential proclamation of martial law has been expanded to include 19 other crimes, among them tax evasion, profiteering, drug trafficking, infidelity of public officials and offenses against public morale.

Tatad said all casinos, many of which have been operating illegally along Manila's Seaside Boulevard, have been ordered closed and one of the martial law prisoners was a notorious gambling operator.

Tatad said Constabulary (National Police) authorities reported "general calm" throughout the Philippines since martial law was declared Saturday with tourist hotels full and moviehouses and supermarkets crowded with customers.

Tatad said that, over-all, the government crackdown under martial law against Communist insurgents, crime czars, political warlords, corrupt public servants and sensational journalism has created a "good investment climate."

The Philippine Chamber of Industries, representing 300 foreign and Filipino industrial firms, and officials of 23 major labor unions in the country issued official statements supporting President Marcos' martial law proclamation, particularly his campaign against crime and corruption and his ban on strikes, demonstrations and rallies.

Autoworkers For Nixon

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. — The horde of labor faced by the United Auto Workers (UAW), Michigan's most powerful single political force, in trying to save the state for Sen. George McGovern is exposed in this anti-busing blue-collar suburb of Detroit.

Voter interviews in a barometer precinct of heavily Democratic Macomb County showed horrified opposition to racial school busing hurts McGovern and helps President Nixon, obliterating frantic UAW efforts. Answers to a questionnaire prepared by pollster Oliver Quayle show no sign of a McGovern resurgence here.

Accompanied by Quayle pollsters Geraldine Kanter and Natalie Reegen, we interviewed 82 registered voters (50 Democrats, 18 Republicans, 16 independents) with this result: Nixon, 52; McGovern, 19; undecided, 11.

This astounding

Republican tide comes in a district (selected for us by elections analyst Richard Scammon) which has closely followed Michigan statewide results. The precinct, composed of well-paid, blue-collar workers (mostly union members and Catholics) was carried comfortably by Hubert H. Humphrey against Mr. Nixon in 1968.

What's more, the Nixon tide here comes despite fierce opposition from the UAW, the nation's most politically sophisticated union, in its home territory. One young Chevrolet worker told us UAW campaigning made him even less inclined to support McGovern. Praising Mr. Nixon for "trying to iron out things with Russia and China," he will vote against McGovern.

Only one out of ten in this precinct, nearly all McGovern supporters anyway, said the UAW endorsement influenced them positively. Most indicated it made no difference either way, though, by 2-to-1, these voters agree with the UAW that Mr. Nixon favors big business at the expense of the average working family.

A 21-year-old hospital technician told us he considers the President "more for big business than the common man," adding: "I like what McGovern wants to do for the common man." Yet, he will vote for Mr. Nixon, mainly because of busing. Although a third of these voters are still unclear about McGovern's views on busing, enough perceive him as pro-busing to hurt him badly.

Thus, economic arguments are overruled by the living nightmare in this pleasant white suburb that its children will be bused into Detroit's black inner city. The UAW rank-and-file who defied shop stewards to vote for Gov. George Wallace in last May's Democratic primary are switching unanimously among the voters interviewed to Mr. Nixon. So, a 29-year-old sheet metal worker, who voted for Humphrey in 1968 and Wallace in May is backing Mr. Nixon now because "he ain't for busing."

The busing issue reaches down to Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's campaign to unseat Republican Sen. Robert Griffin. Thanks largely to his early anti-busing posture, Griffin leads Kelley 45 to 22 (with 15 undecided) among our 82 voters. The precinct's traditional Democratic loyalty does not emerge until the Congressional race with heavy support for Rep. James O'Hara an anti-busing liberal (41 voters to 19, with the balance undecided).

But UAW leaders and Democratic politicians deceive themselves by thinking busing is McGovern's only liability. Voters here view him as not practical enough and too inconsistent, most of them seeing Mr. Nixon as more responsible and sensible.

"McGovern will say anything to get a vote," the wife of an autoworker told us. The young wife of a fireman said, "McGovern seems to be an exceedingly sneaky person, out to put something over on the public." Voter after voter complained about McGovern promising too much.

Although half these voters still regard Mr. Nixon as a political manipulator and many complain he broke his 1968 promise to get out of Vietnam, they give him a favorable approval rating of 59 per cent.

Consequently, George McGovern cannot rely on ingrained anti-Nixon sentiment among the autoworkers of St. Clair Shores. To regain this vital suburb, McGovern's own credibility must be restored while the busing issue is neutralized. With six weeks left, that is an enormous task — even for the UAW in its own backyard.

Student's Rights Trouble

The Jerome School Board took a giant step into the 19th century last week when it reaffirmed its right to dictate a student's grooming habits.

The particulars of the case are simple: a high school student was told by his principal to shave his mustache. The student complied. His mother, however, brought the question to the school district superintendent, who called in the school board to help resolve the question.

The decision taken by the majority of the school board is faulty on a number of grounds. (Chairman Gordon Hollifield, alone, perceived the situation in the correct light and urged a lessening of restrictions in the areas of dress and grooming.)

To begin with, the decision hinges not on a "right" as school board members would claim, but on a presumption. When a school board tells a student to shave his mustache, to get a haircut, not to wear a certain pair of pants or to lower the hemline of a particular skirt, the board is infringing on the rights of both the student and his parents.

The notion of "in loco parentis," whereby an institution of education acts in place of parents in dealing with students, has gradually fallen out of favor across the country.

Shouldn't we then ask the school board how it presumes to tell parents that they, school officials, will overrule the parents' judgment in situations where the parents are present, properly exerting influence each day.

A basic fact overlooked in the administrative decision in Jerome is that a student has a right to wear his hair at any reasonable length so long as he doesn't jeopardize the health, well being or education of other students, or interfere with the orderly educational process. (On the other hand, the school may insist the students' hair be clean.)

There is little if any substantiation to the claim that long hair or a mustache makes for poor discipline in the classroom.

One of two conclusions can be drawn from the argument that the school board finds long hair disruptive in the classroom.

The first of the conclusions is that the school board members were not so much objecting to a lifestyle as they were dissenting from what is or may be an extreme hair style. That is, they may wish to preserve the essential middle ground approach in all that the school district attempts. But if that were true, then they would have no choice, having outlawed mustaches and long hair, but to outlaw the other extreme, crewcuts or bald-headed men and students.

The second possible conclusion to be drawn from the decision is that the school board members were, in fact, objecting to the mustache because they feel it is disruptive in the educational process. If that is their feeling, they must then decide whether the opposite is true, that is, does very short hair without a mustache make for the best educational functioning of a system. If their answer is yes they have no choice but to order all the students, teachers and administrators to clip their hair close to the scalp.

Would anybody seriously suggest that to maintain perfect discipline in a classroom, to establish the best possible atmosphere for educating the young of America everyone should have his head shaved?

There is yet another fault in the decision rendered by the school trustees. The ruling could lead to discrimination against the women students in the schools. Would the school board, for example, allow women students to wear dresses with hemlines reaching to the kneecap. Probably. Would they then allow the men students to wear dresses with hemlines reaching to the kneecap? Probably not, yet when any group gets into the business of dictating dress and grooming, they could find themselves involved in an area that admits of no hard and fast rules.

The decision rendered by the school board is wrong on a number of counts: it violates the rights of a parent to exclusive right to his parental relationship with his child; it violates the right of the child, in conjunction with his parents, to determine a life style most suitable; it is counter to any serious, documented educational principle; and it may discriminate between the sexes.

The decision should be reversed, if not by the school board then by the students and the parents themselves, with the assistance of the courts if necessary.

Legal Barrier

Questions of propriety and ethics frequently came into play in matters of privileged governmental information long before laws were enacted to protect the public from abuses. But whether one takes the moral or legal point view, the laws which have been enacted are quite specific.

The question has been raised by congressional investigations into the propriety of high government officials in the Agriculture Department leaving their posts to accept high positions in exporting corporations which are benefiting from the enormous grain sales to the Soviet Union.

Suspensions abound, but it is only necessary to note federal laws cover the fundamental issue adequately. One provision is that no government employee accept private employment within one year of leaving his government job which involves matters in which he was directly and substantially interested or which were under his official responsibility.

Jury sworn for Corona trial

C.J. CORRELL—played 'Andy'

Famous 'Andy' dies

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two white men in blackface, drawing thick Harlem accents into the radio microphone, created a landmark in the history of U.S. broadcast entertainment — "Amos n' Andy."

In the 1930s, the nation would slow almost to a halt when, at 8 p.m. each night, Charles J. Correll and Freeman Gosden enacted their version of life in Harlem.

Correll, who played "Andy" with a minuscule-deep bass voice, died Tuesday of a massive stroke at Northwestern Memorial Hospital. He was 82. He was in Chicago where the series originated to attend the dinner that radio station WGN, where it all began, gave for him every few years.

"I feel a tremendous sense of personal loss," said Gosden from his home in Palm Springs, Calif. "We were partners for 32 years and friends for 50. It's a rare partnership that lasts that long in the business we worked in."

"Amos n' Andy" went on the air in 1928, and in the 1960s moved to television, with an all-black cast replacing its white creators.

But the civil rights movement was gathering strength then, and many blacks felt the show ridiculed them. After 100 episodes and a protest from the NAACP, the show was discontinued, although reruns were still being shown as late as 1965.

Correll wasn't ashamed of the show, saying he and Gosden were laughing with blacks, not at them. "I know the Negroes have had a tough time living their lives and I'm for any gain they can make constructively," he once said.

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—Mass-murder suspect Juan V. Corona smiled broad approval Tuesday when a jury was sworn in at his trial.

Defense attorney Richard Hawk said: "I am, and more importantly, Juan Corona, is satisfied with the jury."

The trial enters its 13th day today with only selection of four alternate jurors remaining. Superior Court Judge Richard Patton, who swore in 10 men and two women to hear the case, said afterwards, "I doubt that in any other procedure has such care been taken in the selection of a jury."

The panel, which included one black and a man whose son-in-law is a Mexican-American and undercover police officer, was dismissed until Friday, when opening arguments are expected to take place.

Corona, 38, a Mexican immigrant and farm labor contractor, is charged with hacking to death 25 migrant workers and burying their bodies in fruit orchards along the Feather River in 1971.

Jury selection proceedings were punctuated with disputes involving Hawk and the prosecution. Matters got so bad that Judge Patton issued a written "gag" order to keep the case from being discussed outside the courtroom.

Hawk was found in contempt twice and fined $1,400. He must spend several days in jail at the trial's end. The judge also cited assistant Sutter County District Attorney Bartley Williams for contempt and gave him two days in jail and a $200 fine.

In dismissing the jurors until Friday, Patton admonished them not to discuss the case, not to form any opinions and not to read or watch anything about the trial in the news

To the attorneys, he warned: "You are not to talk to them. You are not to utter a single word to them."

GOP plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Legislation has been introduced in Congress to allow elderly persons to earn up to $3,000 in outside income without reducing their eligibility for Social Security.

The measure was introduced by U. S. Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho.

His bill also ties the limitation on outside earnings directly to the cost of living, saying that when increases in Social Security benefits go into effect, an identical percentage increase in the earnings ceiling is triggered automatically.

EPA bans 3 cars

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Environmental Protection Agency reported Tuesday that the six-cylinder engine standard in Ford Mavericks and Mercury Comets has failed to pass the 50,000-mile antipollution test.

EPA said the Ford Motor Co. had already manufactured 22,000 of the engines and that 9,000 had been mounted in cars that dealers will not be legally able to sell.

The engines cited were the 200 CID.

In response to the EPA ban, Ford Vice President Herbert Misch said in Detroit that more tests would be conducted to determine that the engines can meet antipollution standards. The 200 CID was the only one of 12 Ford engines that failed the test.

Emission control tests require that three cars be driven 50,000 miles and still be able to meet federal specifications for curbing air pollution.

EPA said one of the three 200 CIDs tested broke down at 38,000 miles because of foreign matter entering one of the cylinders. Because of this damage, EPA determined that the engine was not representative of engines to be sold and disqualified it from use for the purpose of determining the deterioration factor. EPA said Tuesday.

Ford has asked permission to test another 200 CID engines in order to qualify for EPA certification. EPA said the request is under consideration.

Nixon asks big victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Nixon, embarked on a campaign through the nation's two most populous states, appealed Tuesday for a big enough victory in November to overcome Congressional roadblocks and "finish the work we have begun."

He told Republican campaign contributors in 28 cities that his domestic programs had been thwarted by a Democratic-controlled Congress which frequently reminded him he did not have a majority mandate in 1968 when he won office with less than half the vote.

"What we need now and what we ask for is not simply the support of a party, but the support of a clear majority of the American people so that we can do those things that America needs to have done for it," he said.

Nixon spoke from the grand ballroom of the Americana Hotel over closed-circuit television that carried his remarks to fund-raising dinners throughout the country.

More than 1,500 persons paid $1,000 each to hear Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, at a similar dinner in Chicago, extol the accomplishments of their first term in office and promise to guide the nation to a generation of peace in the next.

The dinners enriched the already affluent Republican war chest by an estimated $5 million to $7 million and Nixon was scheduled to attend similar fund-raising affairs today in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

"I think it is not an overstatement to say that over these past four years we have been part of a great movement," Nixon said. "We have changed the world and the world will be better for it."

Backers push consumer bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backers of a proposed Consumer Protection Agency today fought to bring the bill to an eventual Senate vote, having successfully cleared the measure's first major hurdle.

But opponents of the bill, armed with amendments to weaken its powers to defend consumer causes, indicated that a lengthy debate was expected.

By a vote of 49 to 31 the Senate Tuesday defeated an amendment by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Iowa, which would have curtailed the agency's legal powers to defend consumer interests before federal and state regulatory agencies and courts.

GOP raises $4 million

NEW YORK (UPI)—A spot check of 15 of the cities where Republican fund-raising dinners were held Tuesday night showed that about $4.6 million was raised for the GOP presidential campaign in those cities.

The dinners were held in 28 cities altogether. President Nixon, speaking in New York, addressed the dinners via closed circuit television.

In New York alone, 1,500 persons attended the $1,000-a-plate dinner. Most of the dinners carried the same price tags, although, in a few cities, the tickets cost $1,000 per couple.

President-Nixon's campaign aides said their goal was to raise between $10 and $20 million through the dinners.

Although no firm figures were immediately available, it was estimated that between $5 million and $7 million was raised.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., a chief sponsor of the bill, said the Allen amendment would have "cut the heart out of the bill."

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., the bill's floor manager, charged that the Allen provision would have stripped the agency of its power to use legal tools to defend consumers before such agencies as the Federal Trade and Power Commissions.

Allen, however, has maintained that the proposed agency needs restrictions to prevent it from wreaking havoc among federal agencies.

"It would create a superagency," he warned, "to regulate and control the regulators. Agency would be pitted against agency in guerrilla warfare."

Under the bill, the CPA would be empowered to enter legal proceedings as a full party to a dispute, with rights to rebut arguments, cross-examine witnesses, and introduce evidence.

Allen's proposal would have limited that authority to "friend of the court" status, restricting agency lawyers to filing briefs or memorandums of opinion.

McGovern 'comes home' to reflect

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern followed his own slogan today and "came home"—a few days early—to reflect on his drive for the presidency after nearly four weeks of hard campaigning.

He wound up his grueling tour in Southern California, with ex-rival Hubert H. Humphrey staunchly at his side, going together over the same ground where they fought a bitter primary campaign. McGovern sought to reassure organized labor groups—drawn by the appeal of Humphrey—that his proposed defense spending cuts would not throw thousands out of work in California—a charge made originally by Humphrey.

At a $250-a-plate fund-raising dinner in Los Angeles, McGovern hammered on his pledge to end the war in Vietnam, including an immediate halt to the air war. "We're going to halt this murderous bombardment and we're going to do it in the first five minutes after the inauguration," he said.

Humphrey urged workers to accept his backing of McGovern, and pleaded until his voice went hoarse with former financial backers to donate funds to McGovern.

McGovern told workers that if Nixon is re-elected he might move to get a national compulsory arbitration law, a national right-to-work law and national sales tax "that would add $200 to the tax burden of every working family"—all measures opposed by organized labor.

Shriver predicts Viet peace treaty

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver said Tuesday he would not be surprised if the Nixon administration, playing politics, "pulls a Vietnam peace treaty out of a hat like a rabbit about Oct. 15."

Shriver was in the last day of a three-day campaign tour through Texas today. He spent Monday and Tuesday seeking labor votes on Texas' Industrial Gulf Coast.

Throughout his Texas trip he has harped on inflation and unemployment, blaming them on the Nixon administration. He said unemployment in Galveston has doubled since Nixon took office.

In Fort Worth, he told a group of about 35 at the airport that any settlement President Nixon may come up with to end the Vietnam war is four years overdue.

"This is the tragedy of the situation. Consider all the lives that have been lost in the meanwhile," he said.

"I would not be surprised if the Nixon administration or Henry Kissinger pulls a Vietnam peace treaty out of a hat like a rabbit about Oct. 15," Shriver said. "The record shows the Nixon administration has a capacity for making politics out of everything—including war."

In Galveston, Shriver made Secret Service agents jittery when he darted through a crowd shaking hands and making his way to within shouting distance of a nearby school.

No gun control measure likely

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress appears certain to end its session without passing any new gun control legislation.

The only gun control bill to pass the Senate—a measure to outlaw sale of cheap handguns called "Saturday night specials"—has not been approved by the House Judiciary Committee and apparently will die in committee.

Judiciary Committee chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., an advocate of strong gun control legislation, said he was having "hard, hard sledding" in attempting to get the bill through the committee, and "I don't think we'll be able to pass it."

"We're a gun nation, and the members of the committee are very gun conscious," he said.

The committee meet next on Oct. 3, about two weeks before Congress hopes to adjourn. Even if the committee approved it, House passage would be doubtful.

Numerous gun control measures were introduced during the past two years—ranging from gun registration and licensing to stiffer penalties for use of a gun in a crime—but only the "Saturday night special" bill survived.

The bill, proposed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., was passed by the Senate earlier this year after a series of stormy committee hearings.

It would describe in detail the caliber, length, weight and other factors of guns to be banned from sale. The guns are called "Saturday night specials" because they are frequently used in killings during domestic arguments.

An estimated one million such guns are sold in the United States each year.

Committee sources blamed the administration for much of the failure to get the bill through.

Although President Nixon said he would support a "precisely written" bill outlawing the small handguns, the Justice Department never defined what a "precisely written" bill would be, and refused to comment on the Bayh bill.

Davis listed as liberal contender

By United Press International
The chairman of the Idaho Republican party said Tuesday a recent letter to "liberal Democratic contributors" proves Idaho Democratic candidate William E. "Bud" Davis is not a moderate as he claims.
Chairman Mrs. Marge Miner classed Davis with Senators Kennedy, Hartke, Stevenson, Church and McGovern.
She said that a letter had been sent to contributors in all parts of the United States who had donated to liberal candidates listed Davis' name as one of those on the liberal list who was in need of campaign funds.
"The letter that was sent by Sen. Frank Church and Illinois Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, admitted to the fact that Davis is a liberal and not a moderate," she said.
In other political action, congressional candidate Ed Williams said Tuesday that this election year is a battle between those who control government and those who do not.

Montana men located safe

MURPHY, Idaho (UPI) — A search for two Montana men believed lost in the hills in Idaho, ended Tuesday afternoon when it was determined they had spent Sunday and Monday night at a motel near Grand View, Idaho.
Owyhee County sheriff's deputies said Robert Lee, 58, and William Thomas, 35, both of Elliston, Mont., checked out of the motel Tuesday morning and their whereabouts was not known.
But deputies added that they were safe.
Officers had earlier launched a search over 3,000 miles of rugged terrain when the men failed to return home as expected Sept. 22.
The two men were believed to be on a bird hunting trip near the Nevada-Idaho state line.

Gov. Bruce King elected chairman

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Gov. Bruce King was elected chairman of the Federation of Rocky Mountain States during the group's annual meeting in Boise, Idaho Tuesday.
King's election as the chairman for the coming year also virtually assured that the organization's 1973 meeting will be held in New Mexico. The federation has traditionally held its meeting in the home state of its

Land concerns Rampton

BOISE (UPI) — Utah Gov. Calvin L. Rampton says he is somewhat uneasy about the fact that 70 per cent of the land in his state is owned by the federal government.
"This makes it especially hard for us to initiate our own land use planning concepts," he told members of the Federation of Rocky Mountain States Tuesday.
"We must have more cooperation from the federal government" in planning for future land use, he added.
At a news conference ending the federation's annual meeting here, Govs. Cecil D. Andrus, Idaho, Rampton, Bruce King of New Mexico and Stanley K. Hathaway of Wyoming said the "challenge of the future" for member states lies in preventing land loss to federal programs and land destruction by industrial development.
"We've come to the point now where industry is asking to come in and drill or mine or clear land," Rampton said. "It used to be where the states would do almost anything to attract industry."
Gov. Hathaway agreed with Rampton, saying, "We've got to make sure our states keep a closer watch over all land use activity. It is not a question of who is developing or whether it will be developed. It's how they will develop."
King said he was particularly worried about his state being "so rich energy-wise," adding, "If there is an energy crisis, our state may be in real trouble."
Conference committee members met late Tuesday afternoon to take up the meeting's final order of business — recommending new programs discussed during Monday's council session.
The telecommunications council suggested an ad-hoc study group be formed to act in cooperation with members states' law enforcement authorities.

Steve Symms, Republican nominee for Idaho's first congressional district, told supporters Tuesday that today is Johnny Appleseed Day.
He said Johnny Appleseed was a man who traveled all over America planting apple trees as his contribution to make the country a better place.
"It is an interesting note," Symms said. "That he did all this work without a federal grant, and at no cost to the taxpayer."

Daughter campaigns

BOISE (UPI) — Susan McGovern Rowen, the daughter of Democratic presidential nominee Sen. George McGovern, says opposition is distorting her father's tax reform plan.
She told a news conference Tuesday at Boise State College that the opposition was using the "big lie technique." She said this was a method of telling the people a lie so many times that they believe it.
Mrs. Rowen, her husband, James, and their son were in Idaho campaigning for McGovern.
She said her father's tax reform plan would plug the loopholes used by wealthy investors, so they would have to pay their fair share of the taxes.

Credit cut for Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American Airlines has cut off air travel credit to the Democratic National Committee for failure to pay more than $5,000 in overdue bills, it was learned Tuesday.

Under Civil Aeronautics Board regulations, the move prevents any other airline from extending the committee credit until it pays American, which the Democrats still owe $980,000 from the 1968 campaign.

In a telegram sent to the national committee Friday, American said, "We regret that such action has become necessary, but your failure to pay according to the terms of the air travel plan leaves no alternative."

The committee owed the airline $11,657.79 in current campaign debts of which $6,236.79 is now past due," the telegram said.

A spokesman for American Airlines said the company would pick up the air travel cards issued to 12 members of the national committee, including former chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, who is now the national director of George S. McGovern's Democratic presidential campaign.

The Democratic National Committee had "no immediate comment on the airline's action, which became effective Monday."

Monday.

In conformance with the recently passed federal election law, the CAB adopted a regulation May 6 which prohibits any other airline from extending credit to the committee until it pays its bill.

The regulation says: "So long as any overdue indebtedness of a candidate to an airline shall remain unpaid in whole or in part, no credit shall be extended, by any other airline."

According to a spokesman for the CAB, the rules require the airline to present a political organization with a bill, on a semi-monthly basis, with full payment to be remitted within 14 days after the billing.

The Democratic Party ran up heavy debts during the 1968 campaign, some of which have not been paid, including bills for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's presidential primary campaign.

American Airlines says the committee owes it $900,704.71 from the 1968 presidential campaign, which includes the expenses of Kennedy and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's presidential campaign.

The changes in the election law do not apply to immediate payment of the 1968 debt. But, the committee recognizes its responsibility to pay, the airline spokesman said.

Losses reported

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Penn Central Railroad, currently being reorganized under the Federal Bankruptcy Act, Monday reported losses of $10.3 million for August.

The figure was 55.5 per cent lower than the $23.2 million the company said it lost in August 1971.

The line said ordinary losses during the first eight months of the year amounted to $145.8

million, but that flooding from tropical storm Agnes cost the railroad nearly $20 million.

Total revenues for August were $155.9 million, an increase of nearly $10 million over the comparable period last year. Losses for the first eight months of 1972 were listed at $164.9 million, as compared with $178.1 million for the same period in 1971.

Market rejection throws Norwegians into crisis

OSLO (UPI)—Rejection by EEC member.

Norwegian voters of their country's entry into the European Common Market Tuesday touched off a political crisis, with Premier Trygve Bratteli vowing to resign for failing to win popular support in the referendum.

With 99.99 per cent of the votes counted in the two-day referendum, unofficial results showed 53.9 per cent of the voters against entry and 46.1 per cent in favor of it.

While the issue of entry into the European Economic Community will officially be decided by the Storting (parliament), members of the 150-member body indicated they would follow the wishes of the voters.

The rejection by Norwegian voters brought reactions of surprise and regret in Western European nations. West Germany said it was a "sad step backward" for the continent.

The Norwegian referendum cast doubts on the outcome of a similar Common Market vote scheduled in Denmark next Monday. As neither Sweden nor Finland are members, a "yes" vote Monday would make Denmark the only Scandinavian Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag said he would shut the Danish international money exchange until the Danish referendum to prevent speculation in Danish currency.

"The Danish crown will suffer disastrously if we stay out of the Common Market," he said.

"We enter a very dangerous period between now and October 2."

Gooding candidate raps move of state facility

GOODING Leo Rice, Democratic candidate for representative from district 23, said Tuesday he is opposed to the move of any state facilities from the district.

Rice, mayor of Gooding from 1959 to 1965, said he believes he has shown his dedication to the area by personal investment and civic contribution.

If elected, he said he pledges to continue to use his experience as a public servant, rancher and businessman to support legislation of district 23.

Rice, who announced his candidacy last Friday, noted that there was a vacancy on the Democratic side of the ticket. He said he received many written votes and urged by his friends to run for the post.

Rice said the future of the tuberculosis hospital at Gooding must be determined and there are uses to which it could be put and funds available.

Rice said district 23 should not only have a Democratic representative to assist in the state's administration, but "this area would likewise benefit by the same affiliation."

The candidate came to the area in 1924. He and his wife have two children, Jack Rice, owner of Leo Rice Motor Co., Gooding, and Mrs. Doris Garrow, Boise. They also have seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Rice owned the Double Rafter Ranch and received the Grassman of the Year award during its operation. He founded Leo Rice Motor Co. and Rice Chevrolet of Jerome.

At one time he was engaged in the finance business and was one of the principal stockholders of the Jerome

Commission Co.

He has been active in community affairs and was president of the Gooding Chamber of Commerce and a member of the board of the Snake River Area Council, Boy Scouts of America.

He also has been a member of the Gooding Fair Board, Rotary, Gooding Elks Club, Masons, Shriners and the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Rice, a member of the LDS Church, has joined with her husband in sponsoring 20 scholarships to graduating seniors over the years. Both have supported the FFA and FHA youth programs.

Japanese boat seized

TOKYO (UPI) — Nationalist China Tuesday seized the Japanese fishing boat Hocho Miru and its 18-man crew in the South China Sea, the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency reported. The seizure came while Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka paid a three-day visit to China to normalize relations between Tokyo and Peking.

Reports circulating here said Nationalist China, which has threatened unspecified reprisals against Japan if it switches its diplomatic recognition to Peking, might try to blockade the Taiwan Strait against Japanese ships.

The maritime agency here gave no details of the seizure except to say it occurred about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday while the vessel was fishing for tuna.

Taiwan has reacted angrily to Japan's moves to normalize its relations with China. The Nationalist Chinese government has said Japan will face "reprisals" if the normalization of relations is carried through. Taiwan has already taken economic measures to display its displeasure, including a ban on all Japanese imports worth over $20,000.

In the Nationalist capital of Taipei, the Japanese embassy said it expects violence directed against Japanese nationals in Taiwan when Tanaka and Premier Chou En-lai announce normalization of relations between Tokyo and Peking on Friday as expected.

An embassy spokesman said he was afraid Nationalist Chinese students and retired soldiers would launch a campaign of violence against embassy officials, Japanese businessmen and tourists that day. He said the embassy has advised nationals on Taiwan to stay home and, if possible, to return to Japan as soon as possible.

Arrive in Peking

AMERICAN PRISONERS of war and members of a U. S. anti war group which flew to Hanoi to get the prisoners arrived in Peking Tuesday enroute home. There was speculation the group switched to the China route home for fear U. S. authorities in Vietnam would take the prisoners there and ship them back to the U. S. by military aircraft, a move which might endanger the release of other U. S. POW's held by North Vietnam. Shown are Navy Lt. and Mrs. Norris A. Charles and Rev. William S. Sloan. (UPI)

Postal service rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A package mailed from Modena, Utah to Panama, Nev., a distance of 20 miles, will have to cover a 2,309 mile route before delivery under the U.S. Postal Service's new bulk mail system, a critic charged today.

The extreme example was one of 32 instances cited by Rep. Robert N.C. Nix, D-Pa., of added travel time for parcels that will result in some sections of the nation when the new system becomes operational in 1976.

Nix, chairman of a House Postal Facilities subcommittee, made the claims in prepared remarks as his panel renewed hearings on the Postal Service's construction program.

The system calls for construction of 21 large sorting centers around the nation and 12 auxiliary centers where all parcels will be shipped for sorting by machines before being sent out again for delivery.

The Postal Service claims machine sorting will greatly speed handling of parcels and result in quicker delivery. Nix conceded that it will probably "benefit mass mailers."

"We are not interested, however, in what, if any service can be obtained by big business mailing houses," said Nix. "The standard for the Postal Service as a government agency is what, if anything, such an agency will accomplish directly for the American mail patron."

In the Modena case, a truck would now deliver the package the 20 miles to Panama. Under the new bulk system, said Nix, the package will go from Modena to Salt Lake City, Utah, then to Denver, Colo., then to Los Angeles, then to Las Vegas and finally to Panama.

Open house slated at new Hailey bank

HAILEY — Bank of Idaho will open its new Hailey branch office building on Main Street Friday. Jerry McGrath, assistant vice president and manager, said.

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies will be held at 10 a.m., followed by an open house until 6 p.m. The public is invited. The ribbon will be cut by Hailey Mayor Lawrence F. Hengle.

Bank officers who will officiate at the opening ceremonies are Joseph Bianco, president; Preston J. Bither, senior vice president, administration; Erle Fulghum, senior vice president, marketing; Larry C. Hayden, senior vice president and cashier; and Nile G. Latta, vice president, marketing from the bank's head office in Boise.

The bank has been especially designed to capture the feeling of its rustic Sawtooth mountain surroundings and Hailey's colorful past as a mining town and ranching center. Hand-split shakes, used brick interior and exterior wall, massive, exposed wood beams and extensive use of glass are combined to enhance the rustic character of the building.

The new bank will provide complete, metropolitan banking service including customer parking, and drive-up teller.

Solon convinced state gave advantage to IBM

RUPERT — Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, said he is "firmly convinced" that IBM received preferential treatment in state bidding for computer contracts.

Peavey said Tuesday, "If this special treatment continues and all competition is thereby eliminated, perhaps IBM rates and profits should be regulated by an agency such as the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, which regulates other monopolies."

The "special treatment" was brought out in "glaring detail" during the legislative budget and fiscal hearing Friday in Boise, Peavey said.

He said according to testimony IBM was given nearly 14 months head start in preparing a bid or proposal for computers for State Auditor Joe Williams, while UNIVAC, Burrows, Control Data Corp., and Honeywell Information Systems were given only a "scant" 10 work days.

Peavey said the highway department gave IBM a 35-day head start but allowed others 18 days.

"In addition to impossible time schedules imposed on IBM competition, other restrictions which would have been enough to eliminate all competition were imposed," Peavey said.

He said "with all competition done away with, the citizens' tax dollars are rife for illegal profiteering."

Idaho's attorney general's opinion held that the practices were entirely legal, Peavey said. If that is true, he said, the law needs to be changed.

"Elimination of competition may or may not be legal, but in this case it is certainly morally wrong to allow such unfair practices," Peavey said.

The state senator said he feels that elected officials should comply not only with the letter of the law, but also with the spirit. "Such action that has been taken destroys the confidence of the average citizen in his government," he said.

He said the budget and fiscal committee previously called the problem to the attention of Gov. Cecil Andrus and had respectfully recommended to the governor that he take action to see that regulations for bids be drawn "so as not to eliminate responsible competition in the acquiring of data processing services."

The recommendation was made May 8, more than two months before the request for the bid was issued either by the auditor or the highway department, Peavey said.

"Evidently this prudent and early advice of the budget and fiscal committee, was largely ignored," he said.

Magic Valley

Wednesday, September 27, 1972

Begins work

SHOSHONE — Donald Barlow begins work Oct. 1 trying to finalize a $500,000 federal mental health grant for the Magic Valley.

Barlow was hired Tuesday night as program director of the South Central Idaho Mental Health Center Inc., at a board of directors meeting in Shoshone.

The center is funded for the current year with $50,000 federal Department of Health Education and Welfare grant to write a staffing grant for half a million dollars for the future.

The board will meet again Oct. 3 in Shoshone to discuss the hiring of other staff members for the center, including a stenographer, statistician, case aide and community education aide.

A spokesman for the board also said the group was seeking information about "substance abuse" in the Magic Valley area.

Davis suggests overtime pay

BURLEY — U.S. Democratic Senate nominee Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis called for amendments to legislation which would allow overtime pay for potato processing workers.

Campaigning today in Burley and Rupert, Davis referred to the Fair Labor Standards Act and the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act.

He said as the law stands now employers who process fresh fruits and vegetables can claim overtime exemptions and not pay their workers overtime pay, except for hours worked in excess of 10 a day or 50 in a work week.

"Advances in technology are making the continuation of such overtime exemptions unjustifiable," Davis said. He added "This year the Senate removed these exemptions from the Fair Labor Standards Act, but the House left the exemptions in the bill."

"I think the 5,000 to 6,000 workers in processing plants throughout southern Idaho have a right to know where my opponent Rep. James McClure stands on this measure which vitally affects their interests."

Davis said McClure supported the exemptions which "is typical of his lack of concern for the problems of the working man and woman in Idaho."

THE LEAVES ARE falling a lot faster this year, according to Brian Evans, 2, right, especially with help from brother Mark, 4. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Evans, Hailey.

TF can kitchen to close Oct. 6

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Canning Kitchen closes Oct. 6 after a busy season of about 75,000 cans of meat, vegetables and other produce.

Mrs. J. H. Sharp, kitchen manager, said the last day for canning will be Oct. 6 and persons must pick up their canned items by 11 a.m. Oct. 7.

She said the kitchen operated 26 days this year, a relatively short season because there was no local fruit for canning. During that time the equipment and personnel averaged 2,500 cans per day including processing 93 100-lb. sacks of beans into chili, pork and beans and ham and beans.

Numerous vegetables and meat and fish were also canned. There were 425 families registered to use the kitchen this season.

Mrs. Sharp said many donations have been received to help pay for the two automatic sealers which make the kitchen work quick and efficient.

Patrons using the kitchen find the automatic sealers a major benefit, she said. One is now paid for through donations and the other will be paid for next year if donations continue to come in as they have.

Persons may contact Mrs. Sharp, Filer, with donations.

Mrs. Sharp said the kitchen had exceptionally good help this year with Patti Dilworth, Hansen, operating the steam table; Dorothy Dierker the chili program; Lloyd Lenson the pressure cookers, and Harry Sharp the sealers.

Shoshone boy, 7, has narrow escape

SHOSHONE — Chris Connell, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Connell, returned to school this week after a narrow escape.

He was buried in a silo pit last week and almost suffocated.

He had been riding in a truck cab with a driver hauling silage to a pit and unknown to anyone, had gotten into the pit and let the silage pour over him.

A tractor driver was running over the pit and noticed what he thought was his own coat partly covered in the pit. It turned out to be Chris, who was unconscious by that time and was nearly buried.

While at the Jerome hospital several days, his was treated for concussion and bruises.

Gooding Demos set meet

GOODING — William "Bud" Davis will be in Gooding Friday to meet with county Democratic leaders and speak with voters.

There will be a no-host coffee hour at 6 p.m. in the Lincoln Inn at which time the candidate will meet with the public.

Davis is the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho.

Plans for the visit were made Monday night in a meeting of the Democratic Central Committee. Leo Rice, candidate for district 23 in the Idaho legislature, spoke to the group on his upcoming campaign.

Meetings of the Democratic Party will be held each Monday until the November election, Richard Strickland, central committee chairman, said. The public is invited to all meetings.

Shoshone plans future events

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone Chamber of Commerce outlined coming events at a Tuesday noon meeting.

Lincoln County Development Corporation will meet at 8 p.m. Oct. 4 at the Manhattan Cafe.

Robert Miller, corporation president, told members a review of utilization of economic aid available through the federal government will be given. He also said that the annual chamber election banquet is scheduled for December and Gov. Cecil Andrus has been invited to be the guest speaker.

Myron D. Johnson told members that Shoshone has been listed as a fifth possible site for location of a regional airport. He reported on information received at the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce meeting held at Sun Valley recently. Johnson gave statistics of projected growth in the Wood River and Magic Valley areas.

A letter of commendation from California residents was read. It thanked Ivan Hopkins for his courtesy to them and praised camping facilities offered in Shoshone last summer.

Seventeen ornate street lights will be auctioned at the county-wide swimming pool fund raising auction Saturday at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds. The lights were replaced in downtown Shoshone this spring and, according to Mayor Elwood R. Werry, are considered antiques and are particularly desirable as residential yard lights.

Proceeds from the numerous items to be auctioned will be deposited in an escrow fund.

Meet postponed

GOODING — The Wood River Resource Area meeting scheduled for tonight has been postponed until Oct. 4.

The agenda will include discussion of road improvements to Magic Reservoir from the west side. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the county courthouse.

Valley Briefs

Probe set on Jerome rustling

JEROME — Mike Peto Thompson, 23, Jerome, pleaded guilty to two counts of grand larceny, cattle theft, Tuesday in Fifth District Court, Jerome.

District Judge James Cunningham ordered a presentence investigation and released Thompson on a $500 bond he had previously posted.

Jerome County Pros. Atty. Eugene Fredericksen said Thompson was arrested Aug. 10 following an investigation by K. C. Bartholomew, state brand inspector, and Jerome County Sheriff James P. (Pat) Burns.

Thompson appeared before Magistrate Russell Shaud on Aug. 17 and was released on $500 bond.

"On approximately Aug. 14 Thompson allegedly stole two Charolais calves from the Harris-Freeman Livestock Co. northwest of Jerome and sold them at Producers Livestock Association, Jerome," Fredericksen said.

He said the offense is a felony and carries a maximum sentence of up to 14 years in jail.

TWIN FALLS — The Delta Gamma rummage sale will be held Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Bishop Rhea Auditorium.

Deadline angers CAA

The executive director, Russell, has only been working at the agency 60 days.

The board had spent "many hours in resolving problems in its senior citizen program."

Two senior citizen groups had petitioned the board earlier this year for independence, precipitating a two-month dispute, but the situation appears now to be on its way to resolution.

Whitehead disputed both reasons cited by Sloten, responding that the senior citizen program was only "a small part" of the total mission of the agency. "There is no reason to neglect the other programs," he said.

He also said the new director was "no excuse" for the agency not to have completed its revisions. "Our contract is with the board to perform certain services," he said, adding the board should have had "an acting director or someone" who would oversee the revisions needed by the work plan.

Whitehead said there were "no appeal" routes through which the local board could move. He said the regional office could take several options if the revisions were not submitted on time, or if they still failed to measure up to standards.

— Suspension of the contract with the agency.

— Termination of the contract with the agency.

— Giving the agency sufficient technical assistance to develop a suitable work plan.

Sloten said he was prepared to ask the board to appeal to Idaho's congressional delegation to "resolve the dispute, if necessary."

2 valley firms apply for new operating permits

By RUTH MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Two Magic Valley companies are among 17 applying to the Idaho Department of Environmental Protection and Health for operating permits.

The applications are among the first in a new permit program designed to prevent further pollution of the state's waterways.

Dr. Lee Stokes, chief of the water pollution control section of the IDEPH, said until just over a year ago, firms could operate without being issued such permits.

The 17 applicants ask for the authority to operate waste treatment facilities or effluent discharge or both.

Applying for permits from Magic Valley are

Green Giant Co.'s Buhl plant and the Mindoka National Wildlife Refuge in Mindoka County, operated by the U.S. Bureau of Fisheries and Wildlife.

Green Giant has made application for irrigation, a use which Dr. Stokes said has been found to require a permit because of danger to sub-surface water.

The refuge application requests permission to operate a lagoon with no discharge to hold effluents from a small number of toilet facilities at a laboratory.

Dr. Stokes said the first permits were issued late last spring and about 70 have been approved so far.

He said there is misunderstanding about the permit system and many people believe the permits give license to firms to pollute. He said that contrary to this belief, it permits firms to operate within certain limits.

The permit system gives Dr. Stokes' department more teeth in pollution control. He said under the Water Quality Standards Act, only the stream could be checked and then the department could try to determine which industry along the stream's path was responsible for any pollution.

Under the new ruling, the effluent itself can be checked and restrictions placed on a company before discharge is made.

Dr. Stokes said rather than asking all Idaho firms to apply for permits at a given date, the department is asking them to apply at a pace at which the department can handle applications.

He said the department is putting firms on a schedule for application and that it may take another year or so before all necessary applications will be issued.

He said the department is working primarily on a geographical basis along streams in the area and is particularly involved in southern Idaho at this time. He said where necessary, however, the department is stepping outside its priority schedule.

In the case of potato processing plants in Magic Valley, Dr. Stokes said because of operational problems, it may take more time for permits to be issued. He said the potato industry has some "tough problems," and schedules for improvements will be set up.

He said the agency and the firms involved will cooperate to improve the efficiency of pollution control measures.

The maximum time limit for permits to be in effect is five years, but Dr. Stokes said in many cases, short term permits probably will be issued.

After legal publication this week of application for permits by Green Giant Co., the Mindoka National Wildlife Refuge and the 15 other firms, opponents to the permits will have 20 days in which to register protests.

After 20 days the permits can be issued unless the affected firm wishes to protest and ask for a hearing.

Dr. Stokes said the firm may wish to protest the permit because it feels the controls contained in it may be too tight.

Record income for farms seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Giving an even higher shine to an already bright farm income picture, the Agriculture Department today predicted 1972 net farm income may leap to a record of about $18.6 billion.

The forecast was $500 million better than earlier predictions, primarily because of the recent boom in wheat prices and improved prospects for soybeans and feed grains — all due to unexpectedly heavy sales to the Soviet Union in recent weeks.

Economists said the new $18.6 billion income forecast would represent a $2.5 billion gain from last year. Previously, when government forecasters were predicting a $2 billion gain, they attributed most of the increase to stronger livestock prices.

A new report today said the brighter prospects for grain and soybean income were only partly offset by a prospective $75 million reduction in government support payments to wheat growers. The payments will decline because wheat market prices have risen.

Administration economists have conceded that the $18.6 billion income figure may be overstated because an outdated system used for compiling the statistics does not take full account of some farm costs.

But whatever the exact 1972 figure turns out to be, officials here have insisted the gains over 1971 and other recent years are being accurately measured.

CONSTANT RAINS in Wisconsin have caused Fred Lang, who farms near Kenosha, to use a boat to pick corn from field. Lang estimates he has 30 acres of field under water. Farmers in area find crops ruined by water, rot, or disease if and when they can reach fields to harvest. (UPI)

3 aides at Idaho due grant

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Three University of Idaho range management and soils professors have received a grant from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to test the use of satellite photographs.

Principal investigators under the grant are Drs. Edwin W. Tisdale and Minoru Hironaka, professors of range management, and Dr. Maynard A. Fosberg, professor of soils.

Tisdale said the university will be receiving and analyzing photographs taken by the Earth Resources Technology Satellite-A, designed to inventory the earth's natural resources from 564 miles away in space. The satellite was launched last July and makes 14 revolutions around the earth each day.

Tisdale said if the study shows the high-level remote sensing to be practical, long-range applications would include assistance to land managers in the form of maps showing the kinds of plants and where they occur, soil moisture levels, insect infestations and range conditions.

"One of the things NASA wants to find out is whether the satellite photographs will show the kind of detail we need," Tisdale said.

Potato harvest gaining

BOISE (UPI) — Potato harvesting operations in Idaho are picking up rapidly, a federal crop report said today.

Vine killing still is under way with chemicals being applied in many areas as vine killing frosts have scattered.

Some potato digging in eastern Idaho was hampered by winds last week. The potato harvest now is nearly 20 percent complete in the southwestern portion of the state, about 10 percent finished in the Magic Valley and nearly five per cent in the eastern sector.

Unsettled weather slowed harvest of beans and hay crops in the state last week. But almost all beans have been cut and nearly 80 per cent are threshed in the southwestern area and about 60 per cent in the Magic Valley.

Foster decks Finnegan in 14th to keep crown

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) —Lanky Bob Foster exploded a right hand to the chin of Chris Finnegan of Britain in the 14th round Tuesday night to knock out the European champion and retain his world light-heavyweight title.

Foster, 33, who felled the 28-year-old Briton for a count of eight in the 10th round, dealt the payoff punch after 55 seconds of the 14th to end Finnegan's dogged challenge.

Finnegan, middleweight gold medal winner in the 1968 Mexico Olympics, had never before been knocked down in 26 pro fights. He was clearly behind on points when the end came, although he put up a stiffer battle than most boxing experts expected.

Delaware faces challengers in poll; BSC still in sixth

NEW YORK (UPI) —Beware Delaware, the Bulldogs are coming.

Louisiana Tech and Drake, ironically both nicknamed Bulldogs, are entertaining lofty ambitions after impressive wins this weekend and Delaware's No. 1 rating by the United Press International Board of Coaches may hang in the balance later on this year if the trend continues.

T.F.'s Sturgill tops SIC rushers

Mike Sturgill, a questionmark starter for Twin Falls at quarterback in his team's first three games, leads the Southern Idaho Conference in rushing and ranks third in total offense according to statistics released today by league coaches.

Sturgill has piled up 298 yards on the ground with about two-thirds of them coming against the Caldwell Cougars. The only other Magic Valley athletes listed in the top five in eight categories are Minico wide receiver Ron Jones, who ranks second in receptions, and Bruin halfback Gary Scott, third in kickoff returns.

Between a pre-season ear injury incurred while swimming and badly swollen and strained foot, Sturgill hasn't a cinch starter for Coach Norm Thomas yet — and is listed among the questionmarks again this week when the Bruins go to the mandome to test the Pocatello Indians.

Although a quarterback most of the way up junior-senior high ladder, Sturgill wasn't wild about the idea this year, telling Coach Thomas he'd rather run the ball. But in the wishbone, the ball is always his unless he wants to give it up. Only Monte Nash of Borah, second in rushing, has carried more than Sturgill and he leads in total yards participated in with 101 — running and throwing.

Sturgill has a 4.5 average — helped considerably by that 89-yard scamper against Caldwell — and 298 yards overall. His 446 yards ranks him behind Frank Green of Highland and Tom Cafferty of Borah in total offense.

Jones has grabbed eight passes for 141 yards while Scott ranks sixth in kickoff returns with three for 73 yards.

Athletic guideline to be formulated

Guidelines for conduct of coaches and officials and responsibility of schools hosting athletic functions will be formulated by the Fourth District Activities Association board of control.

The decision was made Tuesday night when two schools, Buhl and Valley, were called before the board and representatives of the Fourth District Officials Association to discuss occurrences during games played Friday night at Buhl and Filer.

Sox blow four-run lead, fall to Milwaukee 6-4

BOSTON (UPI) — George Scott clubbed a two-run homer into the centerfield seats Tuesday night as the Milwaukee Brewers scored three unearned runs in the eighth inning with the help of a pair of errors to edge the Boston Red Sox 6-4.

The loss narrowed Boston's lead over runnerup Detroit to one-half game in the American League East.

Marty Pattin, who had given the Red Sox a 4-0 lead with a two-run homer in the second inning, was coasting along with a four-hitter and a 4-2 advantage when pinchhitter Brock Davis opened the eighth by bunting for a base hit.

Davis stole second, went to third on catcher Carlton Fisk's throwing error and scored on a sacrifice fly by Elie Rodriguez to cut the Boston lead to 4-3.

Hawks keep Erving out of game

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta Hawks General Manager Richie Guerin said the decision not to play Julius Erving in Tuesday night's preseason contest with the Houston Rockets in no way weakens the club's position in a contract dispute with the Milwaukee Bucks.

National Basketball Commissioner Walter Kennedy levied a fine of $25,000 against the Hawks for playing Erving in two previous games after the NBA's board of governors had earlier ruled that Erving belonged to the Bucks.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market plunked along slightly higher Wednesday in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up 1.80 at 930.44 shortly before 1:15 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was up 0.21 at 108.37.

Advances led declines, 683 to 512, among the 1,602 issues crossing the tape. The three-hour turnover totaled 6,939,000 shares, down from the 6,640,000 traded during the same period Tuesday.

Gulf Oil was the most active issue, off 1/4 at 23 1/4 on 157,400 shares, including a block of 100,000 shares at 23, off 3/4. Phillips Petroleum was second, up 1/4 at 34 1/4 on 100,100 shares. Long Island Lighting was third, unchanged at 23 1/4 on 102,000 shares, including a block of 90,000 shares at 23 1/4, off 1/4.

Polaroid, among the glimmers, plunged 6 and was active. Some analysts said the company is suffering from poor earnings reported earlier this year and from competition in cameras and film areas.

Among the other glimmers, Corning Glass gained 2 1/4, Rite Aid 1 1/2, Curtiss Wright 1 1/4 and Hek 1. The Price Commission rescinded an August order requiring Rite Aid to reduce prices.

Chemicals and oils were mixed. Airlines moved both ways. Steels, motors, rails and aircraft were mixed in fractions.

Yeti search begins

BANGKOK (UPI)—A Himalayan expedition by a group of young American scientists hopeful of uncovering clues to the legendary Abominable Snowman got underway today with the departure of the first in the group to leave for Nepal.

Edwin W. Cronin Jr., 28, a Wilmington, Del. wildlife biologist, left for Kathmandu where he will wait for six others in the party, then set off together by truck and a 10-day hike to remote eastern Nepal.

The group plans to spend 15 months observing wildlife in steep forested regions at 8,000- to 14,000-foot altitudes.

The young scientists, although planning to make observations on many of the regions' plant and animal life, rate their chances as better than anyone before them in spotting, photographing—and they talk even of temporarily capturing—the mighty Yeti, subject of lore and legend for ages.

The scientists are convinced an ape-like creature existed in Himalayan climes in prehistory and say there is evidence that it exists today.

Others in the group are Jeffrey A. McNeely, 29, of Los Angeles, a wildlife biologist; Dr. Howard B. Emery, 35, of Glendale, Calif., the group's physician who will do research on ectoparasites; James N. Foster, 26, of Champaign, Ill., a botanist; Foster's wife, Karen, also a botanist; Dr. John Burns, a Bangkok psychiatrist of Portland, Ore., and David McNeely, 19, the elder McNeely's brother, who is the group's cook.

Make way for the contemporary classic hairstyle for fall and winter. Brushed back from the hairline each strand of hair goes the full length—back to just off the collar. It is the kind of hair that can be tensed or curled or worn pageboy or pinned up.

Reds call for bomb stop

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The Soviet Union declared today that the Vietnam War can be settled only on the basis of proposals put forward by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, in a policy speech to the General Assembly, said:

"The essence of these proposals is clear and simple. The United States should respect the right of the Vietnamese people of genuine independence and the right of the people of South Vietnam, cease the bombing, the mining, the blockade and all military actions in Vietnam, renounce the implementation of the policy of 'Vietnamizing' the war, immediately and completely withdraw American troops from South Vietnam, discontinue its military participation and its support of the Saigon regime."

"In solving the internal problem of South Vietnam, it is necessary to proceed from the real state of affairs: Two systems of authorities, two armies and other political forces are in existence there. The basis for the solution of the problem is the equality of the parties and the renunciation of annexation."

"For that purpose, it is necessary to set up in South Vietnam a provisional government of national accord on a tripartite basis which will deal with all matters in the transitional period and will organize general elections on truly free and democratic lines."

Gromyko said President Nixon's summit visit to Moscow was a start toward "reshaping" Moscow-Washington relations. The Kremlin values its relations with the United States he said, and will, do all that depends on it to develop them. But, as regards Vietnam, he said:

"Probably never before have so many declarations been made promising to go out of Vietnam and to stop the war as have been made of late."

"All those who respect the rights of peoples... cannot but reject categorically the allegations that the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam is endeavoring to foist upon South Vietnam a Communist regime."

Gromyko, who discussed Monday night with Secretary of State William P. Rogers measures proposed by the United States to curb global terrorism, said he supported such moves.

While declaring unwavering Soviet support for the Palestinian Arabs, Gromyko said it was impossible to condone the attack on the Munich Olympic village "by certain elements from among the participants in the Palestinian movement" in which 11 Israelis were killed.

Candy company settles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Milk Duds are no longer going to be "the official candy of the Major League Baseball Players Association" with an official seal on every box.

Under terms of a consent order announced today, the Federal Trade Commission said it had provisionally accepted settlement of charges that Beatrice Foods Co. of Chicago—makers of Holloway Milk Duds—used deceptive endorsements by athletes and athletic organizations which gave a false impression that eating the candy helped players do better.

The FTC complained specifically about a television commercial showing St. Louis outfielder Lou Brock stealing second base.

"Milk Duds with energy for speed," cuts in the announcer's voice. "Is that where you get your speed, Lou?"

"Sure," Brock replies. "I sure do like Milk Duds."

"Milk Duds with energy for speed on the bases," the announcer says. "That's why Milk Duds are the official candy of the Major League Baseball Association. You'll see the official seal on every box."

In truth, the FTC said, endorsements like that given by Brock are done for money, not because of any nutritional superiority or attribute of the product.

A new hairstyle for fall, introduced by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, is called MS. America. It's a chin-length pageboy line that adds some waves and curls around the face. And it includes the center part.

New Funk & Wagnalls.

SAFEWAY

DISCOUNT

Before you buy anything as important as an encyclopedia, you should take it home and live with it for a while.

But the only way you can do that with most encyclopedias is by buying the entire set.

Not with the Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia.

Come in and buy the first volume for only 49¢. If you like it, you can buy the remaining 26 volumes (including index and bibliography), a volume or two a week. For only $1.99 each.

Naturally, this makes buying an encyclopedia easier. It also makes not buying it easier. When you sell an encyclopedia this way, it has to be good enough to keep people coming back for more.

It is.

The Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia is the work of over 500 scholars, including many Pulitzer and Nobel Prize winners.

It has over 7,000 illustrations—including a full-color World Atlas.

It's bound in sturdy, elegant covers to resist the ravages of time and children.

It's not only thoroughly up-to-date, but provisions have been made for you to keep it that way. Funk & Wagnalls publishes annual yearbooks which you can buy to keep your set as new as it is now.

It's written in clear, simple English. (The Funk & Wagnalls is a family encyclopedia. It's designed to help children keep up with schoolwork, and parents keep up with children.)

And it contains as many indexed entries as encyclopedias costing hundreds of dollars more.

In fact, the only thing you don't get with the Funk & Wagnalls is a salesman. It's sold direct to you through us.

So come in and try a little low-pressure salesmanship on yourself.

If the salesman in you wins, the consumer in you will be richer for it.

Aide says poll is 'garbage'

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Frank Mankiewicz, campaign director for Sen. George McGovern, says that a poll indicating that the Democratic candidate is losing to President Nixon is "garbage."

A poll commissioned by Time Magazine and the New York Times sampling voters in 16 key electoral states said that Nixon had increased his lead over McGovern to a 62 to 23 per cent margin.

But Mankiewicz said here Monday that McGovern is gaining on Nixon.

"I just don't believe the Time poll...I think the overwhelming majority of Democrats, except for John Connally and those types, will be supporting the Democratic ticket this year."

Opening lead—♦ K

By Oswald & James Jacoby

West starts proceedings for the defense by leading the ace and king of diamonds. You ruff the second time and draw trumps with two leads.

Which hand should you win the second trump in? It all depends on whether or not you want to take the best play for your contract. There are two important cards held by the enemy, ace of spades and king of clubs. Are they likely to be in the same hand? Not likely at all.

West has opened the bidding. He has shown up with the ace and king of diamonds. He needs one of the other cards for his opening bid. Could he have both of them?

Yes, of course, but in that case East, who has followed to two hearts, will have raised his partner without any card higher than a jack. Therefore it is almost certain that those cards are in different hands. If East holds the king of clubs you can take a club finesse and make an overtrick.

But give West that card and where does a club finesse leave you? In the soup! You lose the club finesse and later on have to lose two spade tricks.

After all this, you should see the winning play. Lead a club toward dummy. If East holds the club king, West will hold the spade ace and later on you will lose just one spade trick.

Actually, West holds the club king. He must play it or lose it. Now you are able to discard two of dummy's spades on your ace and jack of clubs and wind up with the loss of just one spade trick in spite of East holding the ace.

Daily apple

SEATTLE, Wash. — Dentists refer to celery, carrots and apples as "detergent food" because they aid in removing particles of other foods from the teeth.

A fresh apple, red or golden, eaten at the end of a meal, not only acts as a cleansing agent for the teeth and mouth, but is a refreshing, low-calorie dessert.

One average-size apple has about 75 calories.

A Lovelier You

RINGS ON HER FINGERS

By Mary Sue Miller

This is the fall for beautiful, well-designed costume jewelry. The reappearance of the pam dress, of basic shapes and neutral shades forms a perfect backdrop for perfection jewelry. Designers have seen to it that new collections are great.

Both decorative and diversified, pendants lead the way. Chain lengths vary and the flexibility of necklace allows for pendants that stay put, although you wear several together.

China influences pendants with jade and ivory looks; ancient Egypt is reflected in sun-drenched color and golden metal. Huge geometric hangs in black-silver, pewter tones and brass update yesterday's to tomorrow. Natural elements create a field for back-to-nature buffs. Strung with gilt or silver metals, polished wood, nuts, seeds and leather make rope necklaces in single and multistrands.

To match or blend with pendant and ropes, there are bracelets, rings and earrings aplenty. Bracelets, wide as cuffs, make a fine finish for long sleeves. The better to enhance your face, earrings loop, hoop, drop and dome. Largely, but it's an open season for a ring on your finger — a ring constructed along geometric lines or cut out, or simply banded, antiqued, clustered to skyscraper heights. Simple styles appear on the hand in multiples, but handsome high-risers are the singles of jewelry fashions. Let your choice express your personality.

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for LOVELIER HANDS, a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. ## Are you making most of 'time'?

NEW YORK (UPI)—There's a maxim on the box of kitchen matches at our house that is getting to me. Maybe it's because I read it every time I have to light one stubborn gas burner that doesn't always respond to the pilot light.

More likely, though, it's the reminder that the days and months and years do go by, and the nagging thought, "Am I making the most of them?"

The quote is this: "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time for that's the stuff life is made of." The match manufacturer credits Ben Franklin in Poor Richard's Almanack.

Most of us don't intend to squander time. It is those factors beyond our control that eat into the stuff of life... the unnecessary waitings a dozen times a day... the ones that could be eliminated if there were more courtesy and efficiency in the daily sequence of events.

One pleasant way to salvage some of the time otherwise sacrificed is to carry a book with you at all times. Caught in a wait? Read. But read a book you want to know, not just something to kill time.

I know people who knit, crochet, do needlepoint, catch up on correspondence, make out menus, businesswomen who dictate into a tape recorder when waiting, say, for hair to dry at the beauty salon.

But why do we have to tolerate all these time wasters? There's the too long wait for an answer when trying to get through to a department store switchboard, then another wait to get the proper person with whom you wish to talk, the clerk with whom you want to place an order.

Onerous to any busy person is the incoming telephone call in which a feminine voice says, "Just a minute Mr. So-and-So is calling..." What So-and-So is telling me is that HIS time is more valuable than mine. I can wait until he's ready to talk. This is a supreme discourtesy.

Colleen Bothum, Suhr recite vows

PAUL — Colleen Bothum and Don Suhr were married in Sept. 15 rites at the Paul First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bothum, Orofino, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Suhr, Paul.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Basil Lewis, Welser, before baskets of white gladioli accented with lavender chrysanthemums and white baby's breath.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin with lace daisy trim. The gown was empire style with bishop sleeves.

Her waist length veil fell from a tiara of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of lavender and white daisies and purple baby's breath. Her gown was made by her mother.

Shannon Bothum, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Vernon Gebauer, Paul, was best man. Fred Suhr and Shawn Bothum, brothers of the bride and bridegroom were ushers.

Traditional wedding music was played by Connie Connor, Paul, organist. Lois Stoller, Paul, provided piano accompaniment for soloist Debbie Schutte, Burley.

The couple was honored at a reception immediately following the ceremony at the church.

The bride's table was covered with white dotted Swiss with composites of lavender and white chrysanthemums accented with purple baby's breath. The three-tier cake was topped with satin bells. It was decorated with purple daisies. The background consisted of lavender ribbon and white bells.

Mrs. Ruth Senften, aunt of the bridegroom, cut and served cake. Mrs. Ruth Bothum and Mrs. Marty Cory poured coffee and punch.

Nancy Suhr, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book. Norma McNemar and Carol Stroud cared for gifts.

The couple was honored at a reception the evening of Sept. 17 at the home of the bride's parents in Orofino.

The couple resides north of Paul.

Honor grandma—'72 style

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Once upon a time a grandmother was a very stereotyped person. You know what I mean: white hair drawn back in a knot on her head; wrinkled kindly face with twinkling eyes; print dress of a nondescript style with a bit of white at the neck; heavy stockings and sensible shoes; rocking chair, and the inevitable basket of knitting nearby.

But no more. 1972 is here and the grandmother being honored this year on her very own day, Oct. 8, comes in that form, but in some widely divergent varieties as well.

To name a few, there's the church worker, Grandmother, the bridge-playing grandmother, the world-traveling grandmother, the crusading grandmother, the camera-snapping grandmother, and oh yes, last but not least, the cookie-baking, story-telling, baby-sitting grandmother whom we all love so well.

Anyone with any degree of luck at all has one. She is getting younger and prettier, more active and aware of the larger world beyond the confines of her home, but the very essence of grandmother has not changed. That essence is the love and warmth she conveys to her grandchildren and children, the interest she takes in them and the wisdom she can impart.

That's why there is a National Grandmother's Day and why 15 states have made it official by proclamation. This is the occasion to express the sentiment you are often too busy or inhibited to express.

So it's time for you to give some thought to a gift that will combine your special affection for grandmother with her special interests. The Society of American Florists suggests that flowers can be uniquely adapted for this purpose.

Perhaps your grandmother is the active church worker type who would appreciate an elegant cymbidium orchid on Oct. 8. An arrangement of autumn-colored chrysanthemums and leatherleaf fern would delight the bridge-playing grandmother on her day and throughout the week when her bride club meets.

The world-traveling grandmother searches for local products around the globe, so give her native dried flowers in a rustic basket. Maybe yours is a crusading grandmother who plunges into causes with exuberance.

She'll be hard at work on the campaign trail in this election year.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years I've tried to get this point across to my husband, but he doesn't listen. He follows your advice to the letter, and if he reads this with your comments it will help our marriage.

We seldom go out socially, and when I mention a night out, he says, "Okay, Honey, let's go! You order theater tickets to whatever you want to see, and YOU make reservations for dinner wherever YOU want to eat. Press my suitcase, shirt and pick up my suit, and be sure the gas tank is filled so we won't have to stop for gas."

Abby, by the time I have done all that and have fed the kids, my evening out is no longer special. Then he gets disgusted because I'm not bubbling over with enthusiasm when we go out the door. The last six months I have told him I have changed my mind, and don't feel like going, and that makes him angry.

Is hubby right?

Please tell him to once come home and say, "I have tickets to a play on THIS or THAT night, also reservations to dine at THIS restaurant, let the kids eat peanut butter, just pretty yourself up and let's go."

Maybe then I could generate some enthusiasm. Thanks, DULCE LUSTER

DEAR DULCE: Are you feeling well, dear? Maybe you need a checkup. As I see it, ordering tickets to a play of your choice, and making dinner reservations at your favorite restaurant, and pressing a shirt and picking up a suit and filling a gas tank isn't all that much work. Now, what's really bothering you?

DEAR ABBY: I have been employed for two years as a bookkeeper for a small used car establishment. I am happily married and have three children, all school age.

My problem is the sales manager where I work. He is 30 years my senior and thinks he is Casanova. At first I could handle his remarks and keep him in his place, but it's gotten to the point where he's got to kissy-face and touchy-body every time he comes into the office.

He always knows when my boss will be out, and that's when he tries this stuff. I'd die of embarrassment if anyone ever walked in and saw him being so friendly, and my nerves are shot just worrying about it.

I've tried calling him "Dad" and "Gramps" but to no avail. I love my job and will do anything short of quilting to solve my problem. BETTY THE BOOKKEEPER

DEAR BETTY: Tell Casanova that if he doesn't knock off the kissy-face and touchy-body, you will tell the boss. And if the old geezer gets out of line again—do it!

DEAR ABBY: After 25 years of marriage, my husband and I were divorced. A year later he married a younger woman. I live alone. We have two children, a daughter who was married last year, and a son who is being married soon.

I do not want to attend my son's wedding if my husband's wife is there—and that is my problem. She came to my daughter's wedding last year and ruined the whole thing for me.

I feel like telling my son that either he has me or that woman because I just can't stand to be where she is. I hate to miss my son's wedding, but there would be no point in my going with a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes.

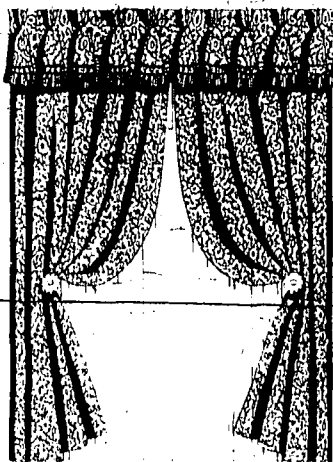

Please, Abby, tell me what to do. SAD

DEAR SAD: Tell your son exactly how you feel.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN A MESS IN ATLANTA": There is no law anywhere that can force a man to marry a woman. And if there were, I can't imagine a more discouraging union.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although the early part of the day can be utilized to advantage by a calm, steady and cheerful approach to your goals and aims, the afternoon and evening find you all too apt to be in an argumentative frame of mind which could cause you to miss out where it means the most to you by stirring up plenty of opposition. Ignore others' anger.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Do that shopping and handle correspondence in the a.m., and then make sure in p.m. you do not lose your temper, or you can lose a fine pal. Much care in motion is imperative especially in the evening. Driving can be particularly hazardous.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Any interest in financial affairs should be handled in a.m. Be prudent tonight. Take care you are not more extravagant than you can easily afford now. Think along more constructive lines.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Plan time for improving health and good looks so you gain favors easily and can feel sure of yourself when dealing with others. Out to the social affairs you like, but be very cautious. Do nothing to jeopardize your reputation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You feel there is pressure around you which you cannot do anything about, but if you relax and look at the matter objectively, you can accomplish a great deal. Keep your cool though you feel like throwing things.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Ideal morning to set up appointments with good friends for whatever your mutual purposes. Forget that am that is not rational and be safe. A perfect evening for having fun socially with congenials.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You can rid yourself of responsibilities easily now provided you do not bump up against irate higher-ups. Steer clear of them. Not a good day to do that civic work which could prove disappointing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Look at new situations and conditions that arise today with a practical eye and they will benefit you, but if you are merely visionary, they vanish. Find right data you need at proper sources. Work tonight, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): You have some leftover duties to attend to, although it is in your mind to go out for pleasure, so be sure to do those first. That hunch you have is faulty, so do not follow it. Steer clear of trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): If you are too blunt with a partner, you can certainly start a big argument, so use diplomacy instead. Handling that civic matter conscientiously brings excellent results. You are a gracious person; show it socially in p.m. especially.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You have excellent talents and can get all that special work behind you with speed and efficiency now. Others are in no mood to give you assistance, so do not ask. Don't get bogged down with details for best results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Just so long as you get into proven entertainment activities, you can have a delightful time at them today. Do not pressure others into going with you. Work some on that particular product you have in mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Back close ties instead of annoying them and make everything much better at residence, bring greater happiness. Get rid of causes of tension. Fix faulty appliances, but get rid of whatever is dangerous, unreparable.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will be one of those charming young people who will be a born inventor, a mechanical genius, and can make much money with new articles that the public in general will gladly buy, even in the realm of toys. Send to the right kind of schools that will be helpful along such lines. The mind is a logical one and the love life is apt to be quite torpid, so give the finest ethical and spiritual training possible early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

Christopher Morley told this tale years ago: "I know of one fellow who became a person of large dimensions because on a day he wore by accident the wrong pair of trousers. They suited very well with his upper gear. Consequently that day, instead of trotting all about the office as usual, he remained assiduous at his desk with the incongruent pantaloons well hidden. He summoned to him all those from whom he required information, even asking the head of the firm by telephone to step in when next he went by. He strongly impressed valuable customers by not rising from his chair. Bashfully, he remained until all his colleagues had gone home, and so happened to get an important long distance call. By the end of the day, he had dispatched more business than he usually did in a week. Hereafter, he stayed at his desk. By sitting still, he rose to the top. It was the sheer hazard of the wrong pair of trousers."

Q. "DID you say a horse has 44 teeth?"
A. That's a mare. A horse has 46.

Q. "WHAT'S the average weekly wage in Great Britain these days?"

A. Men, about $60. Women, about $30.

CAN YOU explain why the New York lawmakers sometime back saw fit to prohibit any gentleman there from putting a newspaper under his posterior when sitting on a park bench?

VACATION

Before you quit your job, mister, take one week's vacation to give it some thought. Such is the advice of a Rockefeller Foundation scholar who has made a study of why men resign from one position to accept another. "More money" is not so popular an explanation, after all. "Fed up" is just as common. Thus, authority contends many of us don't most men wouldn't quit, if they vacationed to rest first.

FROM whence, pray, did we get the word "yummy"?

IPIT doesn't weigh in at least 35 per cent beef, don't call it corned beef hash. The federal fellows so decree.

DOES your doctor care about you personally? Deeply? In reply to this query, exactly 70 per cent of an enormous sampling of citizenry nationwide said oh yes, yes indeed, certainly.

Q. "As to blood types, what's the commonest? The rarest?"
A. Commonest, O. Rarest, AB.

Black September group makes Bonn city of fear

BONN (UPI)—This is a city of fear. Black September, the Palestine guerrilla organization that claimed responsibility for the slaying of 11 Israeli athletes in Munich, has threatened nearly the entire government cabinet with a bloody revenge for the death of its five members at Fuerstenfeldbruck, security officials say.

Security authorities requested the Bonn press corps Monday to "use restraint" in describing the security precautions taken to protect West German politicians.

The request came after the weekly news magazine Der Spiegel spelled out some of these precautions in its latest issue.

Franz-Josef Strauss, a Buddha-like figure who heads the Bavarian Christian Socialist Party, is afraid to walk the streets without a holstered pistol, the magazine said.

Chancellor Minister Horst Ehmke, bushy-browed chief of the Federal Intelligence Agency (similar to U.S. CIA) and who only weeks ago created a security uproar with his marriage to a young, dark-eyed Czech journalist, goes nowhere without a squad of armed guards, Der Spiegel said.

Interior Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher, the drab, "gommetliche" creator of the just-founded counter-terrorist police force and head of internal security, is chauffeured about in an armor-plated Mercedes with changeable license plates, Der Spiegel said.

Chancellor Willy Brandt, too, the first Social Democratic chancellor in the history of the Federal Republic, rides in an armored Mercedes and is surrounded by security agents.

According to Der Spiegel, nearly all members of the Bonn cabinet received mimeographed threats last week from the Black September organization.

The letters threatened the ministers and their families with the kidnappings and death.

The messages of doom were postmarked from Frankfurt, scene of this week's Frankfurt International Book Fair. Frankfurt police and Hessen State security officials told UPI that Arab guerrillas have planned attacks against the Israeli publishers and that the Israelis had requested special and personal protection during the course of the fair which opens Wednesday night.

Embarrassing

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — A very embarrassing thing happened to Patrick Monaghan, Moscow — he didn't pass his Idaho state bar exam.

That in itself wasn't so embarrassing because only 38 of 88 candidates passed the test.

However, Monaghan had won the Republican nomination for Latah County prosecuting attorney in the August primary election.

McClure, Davis debate planned

BOISE (UPI) — Plans now are firm for a debate between senatorial candidates James A. McClure and William E. "Bud" Davis, Sal Celeski, special affairs director for KTVB, announced Tuesday.

Celeski, also a spokesman for the television network of Idaho (TVNI), said plans also are firm for a debate on television between congressional candidates Steve Symms and Ed Williams. They are running for Congress from the first district.

He said the McClure-Davis debate will be aired Nov. 5, the Friday before the general election, between 6 and 6:30 p.m. on KTVB and TVNI. He said the Symms-Williams program will be carried Oct. 31 between 6 and 6:30 p.m. on KTVB.

Andrus appoints 8 to women's unit

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Tuesday announced appointment of eight new members to the Idaho Commission on Women's Programs and reappointment of six others to the group.

New members are: Hon. MacFarlane, Boise, and Henry Gonzalez, Pocatello, to terms expiring July 1, 1973; Louise Reid, Craigmont, and Phyllis Smith, Idaho Falls, with terms expiring July, 1974, and Jean Hill, Moscow; Ron Adcock, Boise; Frances Piasiano, Lapwai, and Ursula Kettlewell, Moscow, for terms expiring July 1, 1975.

Reappointed to terms running until July 1, 1975 were Rosa Garcia Esquivel, Caldwell; Mary Watkins, Pocatello; Sara Kugler, American Falls; Helen Engelhart, Caldwell; Sharlene Freeman, Boise, and State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon, Boise.

Can't quite manage it.

AFTER A DAY of sightseeing in the mile-high city of Denver, Iki, a Ringling Brothers and Barnum Bailey circus elephant, couldn't quite make it aboard this Denver Metro transit bus for the ride home to the coliseum. The elephant weighs 6,200 pounds. (UPI)
